Dear Mrs. Gray,

I send herewith a list of Mr. Olney's correspondents. If among them you find any names you desire, please let us know, when, it is possible that something could be done. For instance, there may be from any desired person a number of letters, where we could spare an unimportant one; or, perhaps, in any case, can exchange with you. For say, some one whom we have not. Any thing that I can personally, I would let you have anyway. In college things of course I have to make every thing straight.
My wife goes to N. Y. to try to see her mother - who is in a Hospital for prescrip. feverish; which was successful - but leaves her in poor shape, Truly Yours
